Mary Emma Allen Writes Blogs for b5media.com

Mary Emma Allen has been invited to write two blogs for b5media.com, one about quilting and the other on Alzheimer's.

You'll find the quilting blog at www.quiltingandpatchwork.com and the Alzheimer's one at www.alzheimersnotes.com.

I wrote the quilting blog for aboutweblogs.com since May 2005; then aboutweblogs recently merged with b5media. The Alzheimer's blog is just starting up and may not be "live" yet as they design the site.

Mary Emma Allen to Appear on TV

I've been invited for an interview on the Concord (NH) Community TV, April 2. I don't know yet when the 30-minute show will be aired. (Concord is our capital city; CCTV is their community station.) The host wants me to bring all of my books and information about my writing, as well as the writing programs I teach in schools.
